

Technical Service Manager – Industrial Specialties for International & North America

KaMin LLC, a privately held, international supplier of high quality hydrous and calcined kaolin clay, is seeking an experienced Technical Service Manager, Industrial Specialties for International and North America to provide support to our customers, distributors, and commercial team.

Qualified candidates will have a BS in Chemical Engineering, Chemistry or related field; a minimum of five-year formulation experience in paint, coatings, and ink; and excellent communication and interpersonal skills. The successful candidate must be willing to travel approximately 25%.

Key responsibilities for this position include technical presentations on kaolin; resolution of customer application/usage issues/complaints in a timely fashion; working with business team for development and commercialization of new products; working with the Global Technical Service team and Technology to design technical service lab studies; and providing technical training to internal and external customers.

This position offers an excellent salary and benefit program including health and dental, and 401K. Qualified candidates should email resumes to bill.myers@kaminllc.com and reference TECHNICAL SERVICE MANAGER in the subject line. Applicants may also fax resumes to 478-750-5471. EOE M/F